The value of the services of Ross, Steele & Co. have been appraised by engineers in Kansas at less than thirty five thousand dollars. The whole proceedings will doubtless be set aside at the session of the Court in July.

THE SHUTZENFEST.

The heat to-day did not prevent thousands of Germans commencing their week of festivities. The streets in different parts of the city are decorated with flags, banners and various devices of welkommen, and Germania Hall was profusely covered with flags of all nations, those of Germany and America floating prominently over all. The arrival of the Chicago and Western delegations was made the occasion of quite a turnout, consisting of about ten companies. The Scheutzen Corps, with a band of music, acted as an escort to the Reception Committee. The western delegations were escorted through several streets to their quarters. On passing City Hall a battery of artillery fired a national salute. They brought the grand flag of the German League, which this evening was presented to the city of New York, with considerable ceremony. On behalf of the city Mayor Hoffman received the flag, accepting it in a very felicitious speech amid great enthusiasm. The Bowery and all the German Gardens are illuminated and great crowds fill the streets. Excursions will be the order of the day to-morrow. The whole city Government have accepted an invitation to review a grand procession on Monday. Several regiments of the first division of the National Guard will compose part of the procession.

The Tycoon Surrenders to the Mikado—The War Not Ended—Various Battles—Commercial News.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

YOKOHOMA, June 5, via San Francisco, June 26.—The late Tycoon has accepted the concession of the Mikado, viz: To cede nearly half of his private property, his army, surrender his navy, and himself retire to Mito, for which place he left on the 12th of May on foot, a token of humility. The Tycoon gave orders to the Admiral to surrender the fleet, but that officer left Yeddo with all the vessels and it is uncertain whither he has gone. He is probably somewhere on the northern coast ready to cooperate with Stat-bas, his friends. The trouble is by no means at an end. A strong coalition has been formed in the interest of the Tycoon, and all the most powerful northern Daimos have joined it. Aidsen attacked a body of the Mikado's troops on the 10th of May, twelve miles from Yeddo, routed them and took possession of the Castle recently surrendered by the Tycoon. On the 17th he attacked another army, killed eight hundred and captured three hundred, all of whom he beheaded. A large army occupies a strong position between Yeddo, and another is threatening Yeddo, thereby cutting off the retreat of the Mikado's troops. On the 22d another engagement took place, only six miles from Yeddo, also ending disastrously to the Mikado. Fourteen hundred were killed and eight hundred captured. A Daimo, of the Mikado's household, has been made Governor of Yokohoma, in place of the old one, a retainer of the Tycoon.

The European and American guards around the settlement have been removed. The British Minister has already presented his credentials of the Government of the Mikado. The high priest of Kioto has issued a bill warning the Mikado that he is interfering too much in temporal affairs and calling upon him to desist on pain of being called on by the priesthood to abdicate. One hundred and seventy thousand copies of the proclamation have been sold and distributed among the Japanese.

The Stonewall has not yet been surrendered. Her crew have all been paid off and most of them return home in the China. The United States frigate Idaho, Lieutenant Commander Hooker, arrived at Nagaski May 16th, 201 days out of New York; all well.

The uncle of the Mikado, who has had considerable to do in the formation of the troubles against the Tycoon, was assassinated at Yeddo, June 2d.

Twelve hundred southern white men were, on Monday, made citizens by act of Congress. All the Democrats in the House, except one, voted against removing the political disabilities of these twelve hundred. We have been told so often by the Democrats that this is a white man's government, that we supposed, not unnaturally, they would joyfully vote to make it so; but they seem to prefer what they call negro rule. The fact is, we suppose, that they would disfranchise everybody but the Democrats; for we notice that wherever they can get a negro to vote the Democratic ticket they have nothing to say against black votes.—N. Y. Post.

A WASHINGTON dispatch to the New York Tribune says: The postponement of Mr. Moorhead's Tariff bill seems to have given great disatisfaction throughout the country. Already hundreds of letters have been received by Members of Congress from their constituents, deploring the action of the Ways and Means Committee. Those members who are generally most active in such matters, did all in their power to have the bill considered this session. On the day before the bill was postponed, numerous petitions, signed by thousands, were received and filed by the Committee.

PRESENT indications lead to the conclusion that for some political purpose, Secretary McCulloch may be required to resign on or before the 30th inst., at least so say opponents of the Secretary, and they are in high glee over the prospect. The old charge will again be brought against the Secretary, that of arranging the terms upon which he would be allowed to remain in the Cabinet should Wade succeed to the Presidency. Johnson has promised some interesting developments about this time. Let them come. —Wash. Cor. Pitts. Post.

ON the 10th prox. the entire line of the Ohio and Mississippi, from St. Louis to Cincinnati, is to be attacked by a powerful working party, and the laying of the rails for the narrow guage be completed in seven days. Sic transit broad guage. Probably if any third rail be laid as the result of the pending Erie and Michigan Southern negotiations, it will be laid on the former and not on the latter.

IN speaking of the remarkable mental vigor of Hon. Thaddeus Stevens, the newspapers seem to forget that Hon. Horace Binney and Hon. Wm. M. Meredith, of this city, famous all over the civilized world for learning in statesmanship and law, are both living and in perfect health. Mr. Binney was eighty on the 4th January last, and Mr. Meredith is not far from Mr. Stevens' age.—Phila. Press.

THE DESERT LION.

From whose base the sandy level stretches wide and bare,—
Dreary realm, which torrid skies oppress with sultry glare:—
Thou in wild and solitary grandeur reignest there.

All the day asleep in rocky cavern out of sight,
While the fevered desert burns with sunlight scorching bright,
While the cruel mirage smiles and crumbles into light,
Thou dost wait, as weary earth is waiting, for the night.

Sinks the sun, and trails his blazing banners after him,
And in cloudless amber skies the planets seem to swim,
Then the desert lies before thee, purple, lone and dim.

Then upon thy lofty mountain rampart thou dost lie,
Gazing from the beetling crest of rock-wall dread and high,
Facing that slow-dying glow of twilight in the sky,
With its red reflection gleaming sullen from thy eye.

Could one only read the wild, fierce stirring of thy heart,—
Know thee in thine untamed nature, savage and apart—
Guess what hints of life on plains beyond thee (may be) dart
With a sense of something wanting, saddening what thou art;—

Feel thy mighty exultations, instincts, joy or pain,
Or divine what be those subtle movings of the brain,
Scornful man will scarce admit are thinking—but in vain!
All thy strange brute life an unread mystery must remain.

Look out fearless from thy mountain fastness! not for thee
Liveth any past to vex thee with regretting bitterly,
Loometh any future with its spectres dread to see;
And thy desert realm is gladness to thy spirit strong and free.

[July "Hours at Home."

The Wheat Weevil.

The Harrisburg Guard of the 26th says: The weevil has appeared in large quantities in many of the wheat fields of Pennsylvania, caused by the continued wet weather which we have had this season. In the Lebanon Valley, the Cumberland and the country traversed by the Pennsylvania and Northern Central Railroads, we have very discouraging accounts of the ravages of this destructive insect. A farmer in the Cumberland Valley, living near Greencastle, reports the presence of weevils in large quantities. Wheat taken from his own fields is entirely eaten up by the ravenous attack of countless weevils. He examined other fields of his own as well as those of his neighbors, and he fouud those destructive insects in the same ruinous abundance everywhere. He asserts that in all his experience as a farmer, he never knew the weevil to be as bad as it is this season. To say the least, it is a matter of sore regret that a crop which has promised so favorably thus far, should thus be destroyed right on the eve of harvest; and we sincerely hope that those insects are not so numerous as is at present feared.

The West Newton Accommodation and other trains on the railroad afford certain and frequent opportunities of daily communication to and from the city. RIVER NEWS.

The river continues to recede steadily at this point with about thirty inches in the channel. The weather yesterday was oppressively hot in the sun, and at times there were indications of rain. Business is almost entirely suspended at the landing, and there is but little prospect of any immediate improvement.

Capt. Dick Gray was at St. Louis on Thursday.

The case of Capt. Donaldson continues to be leading theme of conversation among steamboat men everywhere. The St. Louis Republican of Friday says that the friends of Capt. Donaldson at St. Louis "are confident of his complete ability to establish his innocence without the shadow of a doubt." It is to be hoped so.

The J. N. McCullough succeeded in getting afloat again sometime during Friday evening or night as she was at Rochester on Saturday morning, and was to have left there on Saturday evening for Cincinnati.

The Camelia, in command of Capt. Wm. Dean, is announced to leave for St. Louis this evening at four o'clock. She is an excellent low water boat, and is in first rate condition for business.

The Leonidas arrived from M'Kees Rock's, sometime during Friday night or Saturday forenoon, we don't know just when. It was feared that she would be compelled to go into summer quarters at that place.

The Charmer got through Brunot all right on Friday. We do not know certainly, but it is more than likely she took the left of the Island.

The steamer Clyde was sold at New Orleans Monday by the United States Marshal to Mr. Spencer Field. Price, $2,600.

—Some of the passengers on the Great Republic, on her recent trip from New Orleans, make the following statement in regard to the shooting of the negro Anderson, by Captain Donaldson:

"When but a few miles out from New Orleans the negroes employed in the cabin struck for an advance of wages, which was refused. The ringleader, named Anderson, was handcuffed, and the marine laws forbidding the captains of steamers putting colored servants on shore at any intermediate point, he, with another negro, named Glover, was confined in the baggage room and handcuffed. Anderson broke his irons twice on the way up, and the captain being afraid he would fire the boat, had heavier irons placed upon him, which he also broke; and a short time before the shooting occurred, he and another negro quarreled about some cards they were playing, when the boat entered port." We yesterday conversed with a gentleman who was on board the Great Republic before daylight Tuesday morning, at St. Louis. The negro was then lying dead on the floor. The gentleman says, that from what he could learn, one of the negroes (Anderson) attempted an assault on Capt. D. with a knife, and was backed up by Glover; that Captain D., in self-defense, drew a pistol and shot Anderson, and then he walked the deck afterward for several hours, awaiting the proper time in the morning to deliver himself up to the proper authorities. It is believed by many that a shot was fired by Glover at the captain, as when the latter was arrested he had in his possession a pistol recently discharged.

—A St. Louis telegram under date of Thursday gives the following particulars of another shooting affray on a steamer at that place: About twelve o'clock last night the captain of the Missouri River packet Cornelia, Chas. Baker, was shot in the leg by Wm. Clark, mate of the boat, who was discharged yesterday. Four shots were fired at the captain, two of which took effect. Clark was pursued, jumped into the river, attempted to swim across, and was drowned. Capt. Baker's wounds are slight. There are various rumors as to the mate Clark. It is confidently asserted that he escaped, but his mother believes him dead, and is frequently rushing along the wharf. He is the same man who was tried for murder while on the Brilliant, and more recently attempted to kill a deckhand with a hatchet on the steamer Cumberland.

—The New Orleans Crescent says the Richmond, on her last trip, made the run from Cairo to New Orleans in sixty hours, making twenty-two freight landings on the way. She left New Orleans with 300 tons, over 500 head of cattle, and full of passengers.

—Dan. Wright, engineer and pilot upwards of twenty years on the Upper Mississippi, and recently of the Itaska, died at Keokuk on Wednesday.

THE DEATH of David Ewing, of Allegheny City, in the Commercial Hospital, at Cincinnati, on Thursday evening, is recorded in the journals of that city.

GEN. GRANT goes West this week, his family accompanying him, intending to be absent about a month from Washington. The journey is entirely of a private character, and may extend as far as Cheyenne, in the Rocky Monntain foot-hills.

WE ARE gratified to learn that, in deference to the general expressions of public opinion, the Ways and Means Committee of the House have reconsidered their action postponing the second Tariff-bill, and that it is likely to be considered before the adjournment.

THE pending claims against the War office, for refusing to sanction which Mr. STANTON made himself especially obnoxious to the "ring," have been referred by Gen. SCHOFIELD to an Examining Board. We await the final disposal of these claims with much curiosty.

HON. JOHN COVODE is the Republican candidate for re-election in the XXIst or Westmoreland District, of this State. His majority of three hundred and fifty-four two years since should at least be doubled this year. We think it will be, for the Republicans of that District will work, to a man, for GRANT, COLFAX and COVODE.

B. L. E.—A very appropriate and excellent sermon was delivered in the M. E. Church, corner of Smithfield and Seventh streets, by the Pastor, yesterday morning, on the request of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers. There was a very full attendance of the members of that organization and the church was crowed with the large concourse of hearers.

NOTING the triumphs of Reconstruction, the New York Times says: A restored Union at the hands of a Republican Congress, despite Executive vetoes and the Democratic party, will be the tidal wave of success which will carry GRANT and COLFAX on to victory in November. It is not only the most important result of the session, but the most important achievement since the suppression of the rebellion.

THE BILL continuing the Freedmen's Bureau for one year requires it to be discontinued in any State which shall have been restored to its constitutional relations, unless the Secretary and Commissioner shall deem the further continuance necessary. It also provides that the educational department shall not be suspended or interfered with in any State, until adequate provision shall have been made, by the civil authorities thereof, for the education of the children of freedmen.

THE FLORIDA Senators already elected are in Washington, but will not be admitted until after the State Legislature has been reconvened. The Georgia Legislature meets July 4th, those of Louisiana and South Carolina on the 6th. and that of Alabama and North Carolina at an early day, not yet fixed. The ratification of the 10th amendment and the election of Senators by these States respectively, immediately follows. In the case of Virginia, the Reconstruction Committee have agreed to recommend the ordering of an election to ratify their New Constitution, to be held probably on the 3d of August.

IT IS intimated that Prof. BURTT, who has recently found so much favor in the eyes of the Democracy, will challenge the intrepid NEGLEY to a public discussion on the issues of the day. How much truth there is in the rumor we know not, but it is hardly necessary that NEGLEY should now argue the principles which he so gallently maintained on the field amidst the horrors of war, with one who remained safely ensconced in the class room teaching the ideas of tender children how to shoot, during the trying ordeal through which our nation passed. NEGLEY has written his record; BURTT has got to be made. However, the General can talk as well as fight, and we daresay will be ready at any moment to meet any political competitor who throws down the gauntlett for fair discussion at any proper place, and under proper circumstances.

THE Sunday Leader, our able and sprightly contemporary, entered into the eighth year of its existence yesterday, and marked the event by donning an entire new dress. In point of neatness the Leader will now compare favorably with any paper in the country, while it is edited and managed with marked talent and ability. The Leader was established under trying circumstances, the first few years of its existence almost plunging its proprietor, JOHN W. PITTOCK, Esq., into bankruptcy, but through close attention, ceaseless labor, and well directed enterprise, it has surmounted all difficulties and to-day rests upon a firm foundation and is meeting with that large share of public patronage it so deservedly merits. We are glad to notice this new evidence of its prosperity and trust it may long enjoy the handsome circulation and generous advertising patronage it has obtained from a discriminating business community.

THE journals of the country have dwelt with such particularity upon the frauds systematically perpetrated in the evasion of the tax upon whisky, as to lead to the impression that the existing system, as it is administered, has no other defects. But the tobacco trade has also a record most discreditable to our excise laws, or to the officials charged with enforcing the collection of the imposts, or to both. The legal taxes imposed upon the one hundred million pounds of tobacco of all varieties used in this country last year should have yielded at least $35,000,000, but, in fact, only the sum of $19,705,827 was realized from this source to the Treasury.

There are reasons for believing that the new bill, which the House passed and sent to the Senate on Saturday, reducing somewhat the tobacco tax, and very materially that on distilled liquors, with radical changes in the methods of collection, will result in checking these frauds in the future and in securing an increased revenue. The Senate Committee have the bill already under careful consideration, and hope to be able to report it to that body within a day or two, with the expectation of putting it on its final passage before the close of the next week.

WHATEVER may be the action of the Democratic Convention proper, it is clear enough that Gen. HANCOCK is to be nominated previously in the side arrangement which is to be called "The Conservative Soldiers and Sailors' Convention." It is very generally anticipated that this movement will cause an ugly embarrassment to the Democrats. It will force their Convention to a direct issue between the Conservative prudential element and that of Copperheadism, pure and simple, as it was proclaimed in 1864. The wiser heads are all in favor of action which shall recognize and accept the progress of the age, but the indications are that the unterrified, uncompromising, unteachable old Bourbons of the party will have things their own way. These will spurn any propositions which will look to the conciliation of moderate opinions and, placing the National Democracy upon the traditional ground which has witnessed its previous defeats, will rely upon a favorable diversion to result from HANCOCK remaining still in the field, a candidate upon his own platform artfully constructed to catch the flats of all parties. Indeed, it is quite within the possibilities that the canvass may see not only three candidates, but even four of them in the field. A straight, square issue between Copperheadism, which comprises the living and ruling spirit of the Democracy proper, and the Republicans, compact and harmonious as they are, holds out no hope whatever for the former. They would be sure of defeat, and they know it already. Hence, their game is to divide us, if possible, and to that end they may put one or two pseudo-RICHMONDS in the field. If they could draw off a few soldiers to HANCOCK's support, and here and there a handful of milk-and-water-Conservative-Republicans in CHASE's train, with suitable platforms respectively, they would consider it a good point gained. The scheme is a good one—except that it can never win.

DEMOCRACY AND MILITARY DESPOTISMS.

The restoration of Arkansas is immediately followed by an order from Gen. GRANT to Gen. McDOWELL, the local Commandant, instructing the latter to turn over the State government to the civil authorities as soon as he may with safety to the public interests. In making this gratifying announcement of the re-establishment of the civil supremacy in one of the rebel States, to be followed, as it will be at once, by similar orders for each of the six other States included in the Omnibus Law, we must again express our surprise, that the Democratic party, through its members in both Hauses of Congress, should have placed itself so squarely upon the record in favor of the continuance of the "military despotisms," which they have heretofore steadily and bitterly, but inconsistently, denounced. The plea which they will make, in this most unpatriotic and un-democratic endeavor to exclude the people of those States from the privilege of governing themselves—that the new civil governments have been inaugurated under Republican auspices is one which will have no weight whatever, with an intelligent and discriminating public.

They have remitted themselves to the extreme ground of the unreconstructed rebels, that a "military despotism" is better than that comprehensive Democracy which confers a full enfranchisement upon every citizen; they have undertaken to maintain in this canvass, and in future years, that suffrage irrespective of race or previous condition is a political condition inapplicable to the States lately in rebellion, simply because the people of the always loyal States hold that condition to be inapplicable and unnecessary for themselves. They can only defend themselves, upon the claim that Virginia, the Carolinas, Mississippi, Texas and the rest are entitled to the same terms, when readmitted to the Union which they voluntarily forswore, as are enjoyed by these communities which have never yet shown themselves incapable of a proper self-government, or unworthy to be entrusted with privileges enjoyed only to be abused. The Democracy must measure the treason of the Gulf States and the patriotism of the loyal North by the same standard, or else they must confess themselves in the wrong, in their opposition to the restoration of the South on a basis which justly regards its rebellion in the past and its permanent adhesion in the future. Before the present canvass is over, the Democrats will find the contract they have taken an irksome and disastrous one.

IMPEACHMENT, ONCE MORE.

For two years past we have steadily maintained not simply that President JOHNSON was deserving of Impeachment, but that his Impeachment was imperatively demanded, for the continuance of the just balance of powers essential to government by the people. Month after month has evidence accumulated showing the correctness of this view of the case. The action of Congress itself, not on one question merely, but on many questions, and those of the highest gravity, has given the same interpretation to recent events of our political history. If the President has kept himself clearly within the true limits of his prerogatives; if there has been between him and Congress only a difference of opinion as to what measures were most suitable, he steadily keeping to his prescribed functions; then Congress has been guilty of pressing its authority out of due proportion, of endeavoring to circumvent and baffle the President in his lawful conduct, for party ends. This we do not believe. A constitutional majority, and more, of the House of Representatives have thought otherwise, incurring in consequence the high responsibility of arraigning the President before the Senate on charges of weighty import. A constitutional majority of the Senate at one time concurred in opinion, on this very point, with the House, and incited it to prefer Articles of Impeachment against the President. That he was not found guilty has become part of the history of these times. Upon the facts, as developed before and during the august trial, the student of politics, to the remotest ages, will have no difficulty in making up a definite judgment as to the considerations and influences which led to his acquittal. Whatever Senators may fancy, as to the plausibility or sufficiency of the pleas they put in to excuse their changes of front, in the present tumultuary condition of popular opinion, they may be certain that, so soon as the waves of excitement shall run down, and the whole transaction be viewed dispassionately from the stand-point of pure criticism, the case will be vastly worse for their reputations than it seems to be now.

But, the Report detailing the evidence taken by the Managers of Impeachment as to the kind and amount of pressure brought to bear upon certain Senators, must settle the case even now in the mind of every man who reads it. That corrupt means were employed, and that Senators acted in accordance therewith, is made incontestibly to appear. It does not matter, to the general result, that actual participation in base and unlawful inducements is not brought home to every Republican Senator, who refused to convict the President after having voted that his removal of Mr. STANTON was illegal and usurpatory. The fact that such inducements were presented, and that the following action was in conformity thereto, is abundantly sufficient to raise and sustain the most incriminating presumptions.

While we thus held, and still hold, we did not fail to insist that Congress should not enter upon the impeachment business, until it had exhausted all other obvious measures of redress, and was so clearly of one mind as to ensure the complete and speedy success of the proceedings. Hence, we did not favor the Supplemental Articles, that were devised under the inspiration of disappointment consequent upon the apprehended failure to obtain a conviction. We thought it much better to let the case stand precisely as it was presented to the Senate and the world; for upon that presentation the judgment of posterity will necessarily be formed, and ought to be.

Mr. STEVENS's new indictment of the President, it seems to us, will conduce to no valuable end, not already attained, or sure to be obtained without it. Nothing is more natural than that Mr. STEVENS, and other prominent advocates of impeachment, should desire to have the whole case made out for historic purposes, against Mr. JOHNSON. But he and they should remember that a section of the Judiciary Committee, at the last session of Congress, covered exhaustively the whole conduct of the President in respect to the re-organization of the revolted States, the disposition made of moneys arising from the sale of confiscated properties, and the management of railways seized or constructed by military authority. It is difficult to perceive how these important matters can be handled more lucidly or conclusively than they were. Touching them, as it appeared to us, an invincible case was made out against the President. The House listened, and decided in his favor and against itself. We have no doubt what the ultimate historian will adjudge of the cowardice of the House of Representatives in that particular. No elucidation is needful by Mr. STEVENS, to secure its full and irrevocable condemnation. Either the President was flagrantly wrong and illegal in his policy of Reconstruction, or else Congress was factious and unreasonable in the persistent opposition it made thereto.

When Impeachment was finally entered upon, we felt and said that the strongest points against the President were ignored, and only the weaker ones pressed. Many members of the House felt and said as much. The excuse assigned was that members of the Senate had put themselves on record as to the sufficiency of the specifications adopted, and that thus a short and complete case would be made out. The event disclosed that Senators, even among the most eminent, did not find it difficult to go back upon themselves, to deny any binding force to their own most solemn judgments, and to put themselves on record, in the most impressive judicial proceedings of the age, under circumstances raising the strongest conceivable suspicions of their corruptness.

What we object to, however, is not so much any presentation of charges and evidence, which Mr. STEVENS or any body else may think desirable for the immediate understanding of the case, and the ultimate formation of the judgment of mankind respecting it, as any movement looking to a possible renewal of actual proceedings in impeachment. The Senate has made a revelation of its qualities which is sufficiently revolting without furnishing it further opportunity. There is reason if not to believe, at least to fear, that more votes than were cast for the acquittal of the President could easily have been obtained, no matter what the charges against him, or the proofs by which those charges were sustained. The disgust of the people is abundantly moved without being subjected to a fresh ordeal.

FRESH DEMOCRATIC DISPLEASURE.

So long as the States that engaged in the Rebellion remained under the Military supervision of the General Government, the Democrats throughout the whole country, and particularly their representative men in the two Houses of Congress, were marvellously indignant, and let no occasion slip, in season or out of season, to make their feeling manifest. They descanted in excited phraseologies upon the rights of the people of the respective States to representation in the government exercised over them, straining this point to such a degree as to render the inference inevitable, that it was their belief that the prerogative to participation in the government is so inherent and vital that no misdemeanors or crimes can suffice to alienate it, and protested that the representation of all the States, under any conceivable condition of affairs, was so essential to the just and necessary balance of power, that a legal and rightful government could not exist without it.

Well; Congress having secured all the preliminaries it deemed requlsite, at length proceeded to re-admit Arkansas to representation as of old, in the two chambers. Against this proceeding, the Democratic members spontaneously and emphatically protested, and their objections are reiterated and sustained by the Democratic journals, east and west, north and south. Why is this? Simply because the Democrats regard the manner of re-admission as of more consequence than the fact of re-admission itself. A disinterested observer would naturally suppose that the actual representation of a particular State, upon terms eventually satisfactory to Congress and the local authorities, was all that the spirit of Republican institutions required; that Congress, in view of the circumstances, could reasonably stipulate for a recognition of the important changes wrought out by the war, and that the local government could give such assurances as would bring the State into harmony with the existing status of the country; but the Democrats do not see this, and hence protest that all this is irregular and mischievous. Their obtuseness results from two different causes. Let us elucidate!

1. In 1832, when Mr. CALHOUN and his lieutenants invented the modern doctrine of "State Rights," and proposed to exemplify it, President JACKSON officially developed the true theory of the Constitution. In this service he was admirably seconded by the genius and wisdom of Mr. WEBSTER and other Whig leaders. JACKSON maintained that the authority of the national government had its source in the consent of the people, and not in negotiations between the several States, and, consequently, that it was paramount and supreme. From this view it followed logically that no State had a right to withdraw from the Union; that an attempted withdrawal was rebellion; and that such rebellion, successfully resisted, put the States and the individuals concerned it at the mercy of the government. This was the popular Democratic doctrine so long as the influence of General JACKSON prevailed.

After a season, when JACKSON had retired to the Hermitage, the political heresy he had combatted was revived, and flourished with greater vigor than before. The slaveholders had resolved to revolutionize the government, so as to make its political form harmonize with the "peculiar institution," and for reasons since demonstrated to be cogent, determined to make the Democratic party the instrument for accomplishing this momentous revolution. Democracy was to be betrayed in the name of Democracy. No insuperable difficulties were found in working the mass of Democrats over from the position of JACKSON to that of CALHOUN; and for the simple fact that they were moved not by judgment but by passion; not by conviction but by prejudice. Having been converted to the false theory of the government out of which the rebellion was born, and having either justified or excused the revolt from its inception to the present hour on that basis, it is not a matter of astonishment that the Democrats stick to their false ideas, against the decisions of Congress and the Supreme Court, and the sterner arbitrament of battle to which they have been subjected.

2. We cannot, however, admit that no other element mingles in their opposition to the Congressional plan of Reconstruction, the consummation of which has already begun. Other and selfish considerations enter into their calculations. Before the Southern States embarked in the revolt, they were Democratic. If they had not been, they would have remained in the Union. The Democrats naturally desire that in coming back the Democratic ascendency in them shall not be shaken else the principles for which the revolt was made will stand no chance of resurrection.

But, it will be remembered that these States were made Democratic by allowing only about one-half of the population to share in the suffrage. Nominally, the line of distinction ran on color, but really on a conception of aristocracy, not clearly defined, but operating with remarkable certainty. If the revolted States could be restored on that basis, Mr. PENDLETON, or whoever shall be nominated for President by the Democratic National Convention, would be passably sure of getting all the electoral votes of these States, and might have at least a possibility of obtaining enough more to be chosen.

As it did not seem possible to secure Reconstruction on this plan, the Democrats set out to "court the blacks." They prosecuted this enterprise vigorously for awhile, though not with the delicacy and sincerity essential to ensure success. The job was so clumsily managed that it failed. The penetration of the blacks proved greater than the Democratic capacity for dissimulation.

Hereupon, the Democrats reverted to their former position that this was "a white man's government;" that the revolted States had lost none of their rights and fallen under no disabilities by their treasonable conduct; and that they should be unconditionally restored to their original status. As the Democrats saw no way in which they could be sure to get the electoral votes of these States, they preferred to still have them held in abeyance, and not allowed to vote at all, rather than incur the hazard of having them all, or nearly all, vote for GRANT and COLFAX.

Fortunately, however, they are powerless in the premises, and the Southern States will all be restored upon lenient and just conditions, clearly indicating the magnanimity of the Republican party, in accordance with the rights of all classes of the inhabitations of the country, and tending powerfully to guard against the recurrence of other revolts, because settling permanently the rights of the Federal government and the responsibilities of the respective States.

THE DEMOCRACY AGAINST REGISTRATION.

We find in the State Guard of the 26th the following very important statement concerning the pending suit to test the validity of the late Registration law. That journal says:

We are able to say positively that the law will be adjudged unconstitutional by a strict party vote of the Supreme Court. We have the very highest authority for saying that such a decision is now fixed upon. Senator Wallace deems this decision necessary to enable him to carry Pennsylvania against Grant. And why? The Registration law cannot deprive any man legally entitled to the ballot of a vote. All its provisions are well calculated to guard and protect the ballot-box from fraud. But this very stringency is what renders the law obnoxious to the Democratic leaders. Hence the purpose to break down the barrier against fraud at the ballot-box, and let coffee-colored naturalization papers decide the result of the great elections in this State in 1868.

It will, of course, be startling news to the able lawyers of the State, who have thoroughly examined this subject, and who are entirely convinced of the sound principle of constitutional law on which the Registration law is based, to hear it is contemplated, if not now resolved by the Supreme Court to pronounce it unconstitutional.

The judges of our Supreme Court will stand divided, politically, three Democrats to two Republicans. Time was when the political opinions of the citizen were an unknown element in his judicial decisions from the bench. That day, we are pained to confess, has long since gone by, in this Commonwealth, and no revelation of judicial subserviency to mere partizan ends can any longer surprise us. It would be hoping against any reasonable hope, to look for any other judgment than that which our cotemporary foreshadows, from a tribunal composed of a majority of Democratic Judges, who are in turn controlled by the one great fact that an honest poll of the popular vote is not, in this State, a recognized element of Democratic success. We must submit to this, or any other result, as may be required from law-abiding citizens, only commending it to the attention of Republicans as one of the bitter fruits of their inexcusable neglect to purge the fraudulent poll which elected one of these Democratic Judges. Had this duty, imperative and of easy accomplishment as it was, been properly heeded, we should not now have this urther outrage to anticipate.

THE CHARTIERS VALLEY RAILROAD

We have conversed with some of the members of the Committee, who are here obtaining subscriptions to the above named road, and regret to find that they have not met with a hearty response from our business men, as they had a right to expect. While the Committee say that several of our merchants have responded cheerfully and cordially, many, who sell a large amount of goods to the section directly interested in this road, have not done so. To us it is passing strange that it should need any argument to convince our business men that it is to their interest to furnish the small amount needed to complete this road. The trade it will bring to Pittsburgh will doubly repay all their investment in a few months after its completion. Besides, it is a road that must enure to the benefit of the trade of Pittsburgh alone. It is short and local, having no other terminus but this city; and surely the paltry sum asked by the Committee should be raised at once. If our business men fail to contribute the small sums required of them, they will not fail to regret it when it may be too late. Some of the Committee express themselves in terms of much disappointment, to think that they should have to call more than once to induce our merchants, whose interests they are here to promote as well as their own, for the small aid they ask.

IT may be remembered that "Artemus Ward" made provision in his will for the apprenticeship of his favorite George to the best printer in America. It turns out that the provision was more specific than was reported, for the will names Mr. H. O. Houghton, of the Riverside Press, at Cambridge, Mass. Mr. Houghton has accepted the trust, and the young apprentice is now at work in the establishment.

SO FAR the Democratic State Conventions have shown a remarkable unanimity in avoiding any very positive expression of opinion on the great issues of the day. True to the well-known admirable drill and discipline of the party, they leave themselves open for Pendleton and a white man's government, or Chase and negro suffrage, just as the New York conclave may direct. The slavery of party dominancy has never been more powerfully illustrated.

IN his message to the Senate in December, 1867, Andrew Johnson said of General Grant, whom he had previously called to the War Department, that salutary reforms had been introduced by the Secretary ad interim, and great reduction of expenses had been effected under his administration of the War Department, to the saving of millions to the Treasury.

DO NOT BE DECEIVED.

When the system is once affected it will not rally of its own accord; it needs help—it must be strengthened and invigorated; this is especially the case when the

KIDNEYS, BLADDER OR URINARY ORGANS

Are affected. For immediate relief and permanent cure,

DR. SARGENT'S

Diuretic or Backache Pills

Are a perfectly safe and reliable specific. This well known remedy has effected a large number of speedy and remarkable cures, and have never failed to give relief when taken according to directions.

Dr. Sargent's Backache Pills

Are purely vegetable, and contain no mercury or calomel. They do not exhaust the system, but on the contrary they act as a tonic, imparting new tone and vigor to the organs and strengthening the whole body. These Pills have stood the test of thirty-five years, and are still gaining in popularity.

LET US PROTECT OURSELVES.

The physical structure of the strongest human being is vulnerable everywhere. Our bodies are endowed by nature with a certain negative power, which protects them, to some extent, from unwholesome influences; but this protection is imperfect, and cannot be safely relied on in unhealthy regions, or under circumstances of more than ordinary danger. Therefore, it is wisdom; it is prudence; it is common sense to provide against such contingencies by taking an antidote in advance; in other words, by fortifying the system with HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS—the most complete protective against all the epidemic and endemic maladies that has ever been administered in any country. As a remedy for Dyspepsia, there is no medicine that will compare with it. Whoever suffers the pangs of indigestion, anywhere on the face of the earth where HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS can be procured, does so voluntarily; for, as sure as truth exists, this invaluable TONIC and ALTERATIVE would restore his disordered stomach to a healthy condition. To the nervous it is also especially recommended, and in cases of confirmed constipation it also affords speedy and permanent relief. In all cases of fever and ague the BITTERS is more potent than any amount of quinine, while the most dangerous cases of bilious fever yield to its wonderful properties. Those who have tried the medicine will never use another, for any of the ailments which the HOSTETTER BITTERS professes to subdue. To those who have not made the experiment we cordially recommend an early application to the BITTERS whenever they are stricken by disease of the digestive organs.

CURE OF FISTULA.

DR. KEYSER: I write to thank you for your kindness and scientific management of my disease, for which I called to consult you some time in January last. You will remember that I had a complication of diseases, which finally ended in a terrible fistula, which I had been advised to "let alone," on account of a harassing cough, which it was feared might fasten it on my lungs. I knew that the peculair mode of treating diseases like mine was by a cutting operation, which, if successful at all, would naturally throw the disease upon the lungs or some other vital organ, on account of the suddenness of the cure and the immediate check to the discharge, which I believed was a salutary provision of nature to get rid of some morbid condition of the system. I feel perfectly satisfied that your method of treatment, purifying the system, and local applications to the fistulous part, must cure, if anything could, without cutting, which I find it did, and I am happy to report myself well in every particular, with sounder and better health than I have had for years. I would also add that the applications you made were almost painless, and have left me a new man, with all the energies and vigor of restored health.

Yours, gratefully, I—— C——.

FOURTH OF JULY CELEBRATION.

POLICE NOTICE.

The imminent danger to life and property attending the firing of guns and pistols, and the explosion of fire crackers and fire works in our public streets on the Fourth of July, and the sad accidents which have annually resulted from this injudicious mode of celebrating our National Holiday, have induced a large number of our most influential citizens, including property owners, underwriters, and others deeply interested in the safety of property within our city precincts, to address me on the subject, requesting that I should enforce the City Ordinances prohibiting it. This it is unquestionably my duty to do, and I now hereby give notice that I will give it my especial attention. All offenders against the law will therefore be rigidly prosecuted, and the fines and penalties imposed, in EVERY CASE, without regard to person.

THE MERCANTILE AGENCY

REFERENCE BOOK,

Now in a forward state of preparation, and to be published promptly on 1st of July. The high position which this Agency has attained in the estimation of the commercial public, justifies the statement that beyond all doubt this will be the most comprehensive and most accurate work of the character ever issued.

By its aid, dispensers of credit will be able to ascertain at a glance the CAPITAL possessed by nearly every Merchant, Trader, Banker or Manufacturer in the United States and British Provinces; and not the Capital alone, but also the CHARACTER and CREDIT of each. The simple, yet ingenious Key by which these important essentials are conveyed, is peculiar to this Book. No other work approaches it in DEFINING CLOSELY Estimates of Capital, or imparting the DELICATE GRADATIONS OF CREDIT as compared with financial worth. We commend the new Book to the public, with entire confidence as to its entire superiority over all others.

Attention is also directed to the DETAILED REPORTS on record in our Offices, to which Subscribers to the Reference Book are entitled. These reports are universally acknowledged to be of the most complete and reliable character. Many of them run back for twenty years, and all are kept revised to the latest dates. The New York Economist truly says: "The Merchant who grants credit without consulting these reports, places himself in the same category with the man who refuses to avail himself of the facilities of the Telegraph or Railway, or omits to insure himself against loss by Fire."

Subscribers are also entitled to receive information from any or all of our Twenty-two Branch Offices, in the principal cities of the Union and the Canadas.

In conclusion, the public are requested to examine the NEW BOOK, and investigate our unequalled facilities to serve them.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

FOUND.

That after repeated trials of other remedies, Roback's Stomach Bitters, Blood Purifier and Blood Pills are the best medicines extant to cure the diseases for which they are recommended.

Sold by all Druggists Everywhere.

PILES.

There is no medicine in use so efficacous as Dr. Roback's Blood Purifier and Blood Pills for the permanent cure of Blind or Bleeding Piles; they strike at the root of disease, thereby removing the cause.

Sold by all Druggists Everywhere.

TEMPERANCE.

There is, perhaps, no one thing that has done so much to promote the cause of temperance as that gentle stimulating tonic, Roback's Stomach Bitters; they strengthen and invigorate without producing the ill effects of alcoholic stimulants.

Sold by all Druggists Everywhere.

LIVER PILLS

Are Pills that have a direct and powerful action on the liver, and relieve any inactivity or congested state of that all important organ upon which depedds the whole process of digestion. The importance, then, of procuring a Pill that shall have such direct action without the ill effects of mercury, is manifest to every one; such Pills are Roback's Blood Pills; they are warranted purely vegetable, and can with certainty be relied upon, and are safe at all times.

Sold by all Druggists Everywhere.

INDIGESTION

Is but another name for Dyspepsia, and the parent of many ills. Roback's Stomach Bitters taken in wine-glass-full doses, directly after each meal, will surely effect a permanent cure. Do not take our word for it, but try them.

Sold by all Druggists Everywhere.

NIGHT MARE

Is one of the many diseases of which Dyspepsia is the parent. To effect a cure persons should avoid hearty food at night, and take a wine-glass-full of Roback's Stomach Bitters on retiring to bed.

Sold by all Druggists Everywhere.

RENOVATE.

During the Spring months it is one of the regular household duties to renovate, and, in the multiplicity of other duties one's own self is, in a great measure, overlooked; thousands of valuable lives might be prolonged, and many doubtless saved from premature graves by thoroughly renovating the system with Dr. Roback's Blood Pills, Stomach Bitters and Blood Purifier.

Sold by all Druggists Everywhere.

MELANCHOLY

Sold by all Druggists Everywhere.

WHO SELLS THEM?

The Agents for the sale of ROBACK'S BLOOD PILLS, STOMACH BITTERS and BLOOD PURIFIER are all Druggists everywhere.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, SATURDAY, June 27, 1868.

Government bonds were very dull, and quotations were barely sustained. As an investment, these securities are entirely too high, when compared with the high interest paid for the use of money either on business paper, municipal and other securities or on bond or mortgages. What kept up the national securities was the supposition, that, immediately after the July disbursements, money would become still cheaper at the seaboard cities, but which is not likely to be the case now. Money that was flowing eastward to find temporary employment either in speculative ventures or for drawing a small interest for the time being is now being withdrawn for the moving of the crops, and bank circulation being scarce in the western States and little business paper making in the east, it will require a much larger bulk of currency to pay for the produce of the South and West, and at an earlier day than formerly, States not only producing cotton and sugar, they also come in for a share of the wheat and other cereals to be shipped. These causes combined and the currency question agitated again, may send down government securities after the first of next month instead of advancing them. Quotations in Europe for Five Twenties are lower there than here, and the absorbtion by actual investors there being naturally slow, prices have to come down at home before a market can be made in Europe. The argument that American securities does not hold good when you can buy the Austrian and Italian State bonds so much below par that they yield an interest equal to ours, considering all the contingencies foreign bondholders are subject to.

Gold keeps steady at 140¼ to 140¼, with a downward tendency. The market for the present is kept firm and above 140, mainly on account of the scarcity of coin, but with the disbursements next week the market is likely to yield from one to two per cent., although higher quotations are hinted at by speculators. The general estimate of coin due foreign capitalists on July first seems to be over-estimated, according to the best authority, it cannot exceed much the sum of fourteen million dollars in gold, which would leave a balance to come on the market of about twenty-three millions, of which belongs to banks about fifteen millions, leaving yet ten million dollars to supply the general market. From this it may be safely estimated that in the present state of our commercial foreign relations, neither an undue depression, such as 133 per cent., could be expected, nor are there any apprehensions that during the next two months we would have to report a considerable advance above the present quotations.

Railroad shares were very firm to-day, although the dealings are confined to small amounts. In the present state of the market it would be unsafe to sell any shares ahead in the expectation to see lower quotations made, the seller runs a two-fold risk; a sudden advance by clique movement or a loss of his margins by the inability of the purchaser to live up to his agreement.

Express stocks were very much depressed, particularly Merchants Union, which was expected to make a dividend in July, but it seems the parties in the ring gave out this report simply to cause a firmer feeling in order to sell out and buy in again when everybody is disgusted with the miserable management. But aside from that, Express companies are in the same condition as any other prodigal merchant at the present dull times who is not managing his affairs according to his income.

Mining shares are firm and in steady investment demand.

Money is tightening up preparatory to July payments, and 12 to 15 per cent. is readily submitted to by well endorsed paper that has hitherto not been promptly taken up at maturity. Business inactive.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, SATURDAY, June, 27, 1868.

The general markets have been very dull during the past week, the volume of business in the aggregate having been unusually light, and prices generally are again shrinking. The main topic of conversation in commercial circles, is in regard to the crops; the reports from all quarters continue very encouraging, and the Wheat is so far advanced as to be almost entirely out of danger. In some quarters harvesting has already been commenced, and if the weather should continue dry and warm the Wheat crop throughout the entire country will be pretty well secured within the next thirty days, also Rye and Oats. As we have already remarked business generally is very dull nor is it likely that there will be any improvement until after harvest.

BUTTER—Notwithstanding there has been liberal arrivals within the past day or two, the demand keeps up well, and as a consequence prices are maintained, ranging from 25 to 27 for prime to choice fresh packed.

EGGS—Dull and still tending downward; 22 cents seemed to be regarded as the ruling price to-day.

CHEESE—Is steady with sales of Western Reserve at 13 to 14; Ohio Factory at 15 to 16; Limburg, 18 and Sweitzer at 20.

POTATOES—We can report a sale of 1 car load of prime Peach Blows at $1,15, and we are cognizant of $1,12 having been offered for another car load. New Potatoes steady, with a good demand at $6 to $6,50 per bbl.

GRAIN—Winter Wheat is scarce and in fair milling demand, and prices are firm at $2,30 to $2,35 for Red and White. Oats continue to arrive pretty freely, but there is a good demand at a slight reduction, say 75c; above this figure they drag, unless it is for small lots in store. Notwithstanding the dullness that is prevailing now, dealers expect better prices next month. Rye is scarce, but there is not much inquiry; we quote nominally at $1,55 to $1,60. Corn is very dull but unchanged; may be quoted at $1 to $1,05, on track and in elevator, as to quality. Nothing doing in Barley, nor is it likely that there will be until after the new crop commences to arrive.

LARD OIL—Is quiet and unchanged at $1,20 for No. 2, and $1,40 for No. 1.

HOMINY—Is dull, with small sales in store at $6,25 to $6,50.

DRIED FRUIT—Continues exceedingly dull, and the supply is large for this season of the year. We quote Apples at 5 to 6c, and Peaches at 10½ to 11½c.

HAY—Is quiet and unchanged; wagon Hay is still quoted at $15 to $20 per ton, as to quality.

PROVISIONS—Bacon is quiet and unchanged at 13½c for Shoulders; 16c to 18c for Ribbed and Clear Sides, and 19½c to 19¾c for Canvassed Sugar Cured Hams. Lard, 17¾ to 18c, for prime kettle rendered. Dried Beef, 22 to 25c. Mess Pork, $28 to $28,50.

SEEDS—Flaxseed is scarce and in demand at $2,50 to $2,55. No demand whatever for Clover or Timothy Seeds.

LIME—Sales at $2 per bbl.

PIG LEAD—Sales reported at 10½c.

FLOUR—The market is dull and a little weak, though without quotable change. We continue to quote at $9,50 to $10 for low grade Spring Wheat, and $10,25 to $10,50 for good to choice do. Winter Wheat is still quoted at $11 to $11,50, and fancy brands at $14 to $15. Rye Flour dull at $9.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET.

CRUDE.—The crude market has been firmer and considerably excited during the past few days, and compared with the early part of the week an advance of fully one cent per gallon has been established. To day there was but little done, but a single sale reported 1,200 bbls on spot at 13; last evening there were couple of sales effected 950 and 1,300, on spot, and both at 13. Buyers option all the year, may be quoted, in the absence of sales, at 14 to 15. A telegram from Oil City this afternoon says: Market quiet at $5,25 per bbl at this point—nothing doing. Firm on Creek at $4,90 to $4,95.

In regard to the new well, of which a brief mention was made in our last report, we have received some additional particulars. According to telegrams to-day, it was producing about five hundred barrels per day, and it seems that when it commenced to flow two other wells near by, producing together two hundred barrels, stopped so that the production is increased three hundred barrels.

REFINED—It is an old proverb that there is always a calm after a storm, and this has been verified to-day. Yesterday the sales were unprecedentedly large, reaching twenty thousand five hundred barrels, in the aggregate, while, to-day, there was next to nothing done, but twenty-five hundred barrels reported. The market, however, appeared to be fully as strong as it was yesterday, although less excited, prices being fully sustained; so far as we could learn, the demand to-day was fully as good as it was yesterday, and the reason why there was so little done, was in consequence of the fact that there was little or no oil offering. Our refiners seem to be pretty well sold up for the early months, and, as a general thing, they are not disposed to enter upon the late months, in the present condition of the market. It is claimed that taking the present price of Crude as a basis, there is no margin, and this being the case, there is no inducement to sell so far ahead, while by holding back, they may be enabled to do much better. There was a sale of 500 bbls Benzole (65 to 70 gravity) at 16½c.

ARRIVALS—The arrivals of oil reported to-day were as follows:

Resuscitation of Drowned Persons.

The rules adopted by the New York Metropolitan Board of Health for saving the drowned are given below. The method that received the sanction of the Sanitary Committee, has been practised in Great Britain successfully for many years.

THE RULES AND METHOD FOR SAVING THE DROWNED:

Remember that the patient must be treated instantly, and on the spot where rescued. He must be freely exposed to the open air, and all persons not needed for saving him should avoid crowding about him.

1. Let the throat and mouth be cleansed, by placing the patient gently face downwards with one of his wrists under his forehead. Quickly wipe and cleanse the mouth, and if the patiens does not breath, immediately begin the following movements:

2. Posture—Place the patient on his back, with shoulders raised and supported easily on a folded coat or some kind of pillow.

3. To Keep up a Free Entrance of Air into the Windpipe—Let one person grasp the tongue gently and firmly with his fingers covered with a bit of handkerchief, and drawing it out beyond the lips; then either hold it or press the under jaw (chin) up so as to retain the tongue protruding from the mouth; but it is better to hold it in that position with the hand.

(4.) To produce and imitate the movements of breathing.—Raise the patient's extended arms upwards to the sides of his head, and then pull them steadily, firmly and slowly outward and forward. Next turn down the arms by the patient's sides and bring them closely and firmly across the pit of the stomach and press them and the sides and the front of the chest gently but strongly for a moment, then quickly begin the first movement.

Let these two kinds of movements be made very deliberately and without ceasing until the patient breathes, and let the two movements be repeated about twelve or fifteen times in a minute, but not more rapidly remembering that to thoroughly fill the lungs with air is the object of the first or upward and outward movement, and to expel as much air as possible, is the object of the second or downward motion and pressure. This artificial respiration should be steadily kept up for forty minutes or more when the patient appears not to breathe, and after the natural breathing begins let the same motions be very gently continued, and let the proper stimulants be given in the intervals.

WHAT ELSE IS TO BE DONE AND WHAT IS NOT TO BE DONE WHILE THE MOVEMENTS ARE BEING MADE.

If help and blankets are at hand, have the body stripped and wrapped in blankets, but do not allow the movements to be stopped. Bystanders can supply dry clothing. Apply hartshorn or a feather within the nostrils occasionally, and sprinkle or lightly dash cold water upon the face and neck. The legs and feet may be rubbed in hot blankets if blue or cold, or if the weather is cold.

WHAT TO DO WHEN THE PATIENT BEGINS TO BREATHE

Give brandy by the teaspoonful, or hot sling two or three times a minute, until the beating of the pulse can be felt at the wrist, but be careful and not give more of the stimulant than is necessary. Warmth should be kept up in the feet and legs, and, as soon as the patient breathes naturally, let him be carefully removed to a house and be placed in bed under medical care.

If there is help enough at hand when the patient is taken from the water or afterwards, let the nearest medical officer in the catalogue, or any other physician near by, be called, but let there be no waiting for a physician. Do the best that can be done methodically and deliberately, according to the foregoing rules.

Matthew Vassar.

Matthew Vassar, whose death took place at his residence in Poughkeepsie yesterday, was born on the 20th of April, 1791, and had therefore recently completed his seventy-seventh year. He was a native of this country, but was descended from an English family. In early life Mr. Vassar was an oyster seller. Afterward he was engaged in making beer, which he carried in pails to his customers. The demand for his beer gradually increased, and as it did so he made it on a larger and larger scale; he was very thrifty and prudent, and at length was able to build a small brewery, then a larger one; and finally that large business and reputation for ale which he enjoyed. The use which he made of the wealth he had accumulated in business is familiar to all. The manner in which he came to do so is, perhaps, not so generally known. Mr. Vassar had a niece for whom he entertained a very warm affection. Shortly before her death, he asked her what he should do with his money. She answered: "Uncle, do something for women." The young lady's prayer was not forgotten. The bereaved uncle established a college for women, at Poughkeepsie, well known as the Vassar College. To sustain this institution, $400,000 were placed in the hands of the trustees, who have sole charge of its affairs. The college building stands about a mile from the Hudson, a mile or two to the southeast of Poughkeepsie, outside of the city limits, but within the town limits. While the building was erecting, the war broke out, and prices advanced so that the work was for a while stopped, but about three years ago it was completed, and the college has been in active operation. Mr. Vassar's liberality did not terminate with his original endowment, but he has since given various sums to the College for different purposes, but principally for the furnishing of the picture gallery. He was an adherent of the Baptist faith, and the President of the College, and a number of the inmates belonged to the same church, but the College is purely non-sectarian. The institution was filled almost as soon as opened, and has always contained from 300 to 400 pupils. It has been customary, ever since its opening, to celebrate Mr. Vassar's birthday, under the name of "Founder's Day," and on these occasions the old gentleman was always present, and manifested the warmest interest and delight in the proceedings. Indeed his college was, as it were, the child of his declining years, and took the place in his heart occupied by the beloved niece at whose suggestion it was founded. Mr. Vassar was, however, always known as a public spirited citizen, and a kindly and benevolent man, and was in consequence much loved and respected, especially by the poor, by whom he will be greatly missed. He had a very nice house in the city of Poughkeepsie, and a handsome place just outside its limits, the grounds of which he was accustomed, on certain days, to throw open to the public. Of late years he has been very feeble, and so much afflicted with deafness that at the last celebration of his birth-day he could not hear a word of what was said. He leaves a son who bears his own name; what other children, or whether any, we do not know.—N. Y. World.

A CURIOUS rumor is floating about Paris to the effect that the Prince of Wales attended the Grand Prix on Sunday, June 7th, and got severely handled in a pugilistic encounter with a Frenchman. It probably originated in the circumstance that such an encounter did actually take place between an Englishman and Frenchman.

Organization of the Incoming States.

The States which are admitted to representation in Congress have elected Republican Governors and Legislatures, and their principal State officers are as follows:

	Governor.	Lieut. Governor.
Alabama	Wm. H. Smith	A. J. Applegate.
Florida	Harrison Reed	Wm. H. Gleason.
Georgia	R. B. Bullock	(None.)
Louisiana	H. C. Warmouth	Oscar J. Dunn.
N. Carolina	Wm. W. Holden	Tod. R. Caldwell.
S. Carolina	Robert K. Scott	Lemuel Boozer.

Govs. Smith and Holden are natives of their States, and were Union men during the war. Gov. Bullock is a native of New York, but for some years resident in Georgia. Gov. Clayton is a native of Pennsylvania, but was an officer of Kansas troops. Gov. Reed was formerly a Wisconsin editor. Gov. Warmouth is a native of Illinois, and was an officer of Missouri troops. Gov. Scott is a native of Pennsylvania, and was an officer of Ohio troops.

Of the Lieutenant-Governors, Johnson, Dunn, Caldwell, and Boozer are Southern born, and Lieut. Gov. Dunn is a colored man. Applegate went from Indiana, and Gleason from Wisconsin.

Florida has elected United States Senators. The Florida Senators are M. A. S. Welch and T. W. Osborne.

The Working People.

High wages are in many instances paid to workmen who have a "knack" in their particular trade. Thus the managing director of the Meysey Steel and Iron Works in Liverpool stated recently before the Trades' Union Commission, that he employed two mechanics—chief hammermen—at $62 50 and $57 50 per week, with perquisites for teaching apprentices, making their total income from $3,500 to $4,500 in gold. These men are without scientific education, and had simply extraordinary tact and common sense. Another man, formerly in the same position, is now the owner of a large work employing 1,500 or 2,000 men. They are peculiarly gifted by nature, and are considered the best hammermen in England. They do no manual work themselves, but simply direct others. There are a few instances of equally high wages in this country. A workman employed in a pork packing establishment in Cincinnati is reported to receive $6 50 per day, and there are workmen at Pittsburgh who are paid from $50 to $150 per week for the same class of work performed by the English hammermen.

An Ingenious Device.

It is related of an Englishman living near Florence, where at last accounts the thermometer marked ninety-five degrees, that he has devised an ingenious method of keeping cool. His study is walled and floored with zinc, and is in fact a large tank, filled breast high with water. A few articles of furniture, such as a writing table, a chair or two, and a well stored book-case raised upon cast iron supports, and kept fast to their moorings by means of screws, complete their arrangements. In this retreat or aquarium, the owner passes the hot hours of the day, receiving his friends and writing his letters, with the occasional variety of a dip beneath the surface. His habits are those of a student; and it is delightful to see him striking out every now and then with hands and feet in the direction of his dictionary or other books of reference, spread open for use open a sloping bank or ledge above water-mark.

OF THE

UNION PACIFIC RAILROAD

Are now finished and in operation. Sixty miles of track have been laid this spring, and the work along the whole line between the Atlantic and Pacific States is being pushed forward more rapidly than ever before. More than twenty thousand men are employed, and it is not impossible that the entire track, from Omaha to Sacramento, will be finished in 1869 instead of 1870. The means provided are ample, and all that energy, men and money can do to secure the completion of this

GREAT NATIONAL WORK,

At the earliest possible day, will be done.

The UNION PACIFIC RAILROAD COMPANY receive:

I.—A GOVERNMENT GRANT of the right of way, and all necessary timber and other materials found along the line of its operations.

II.—A GOVERNMENT GRANT of 12,800 acres of land to the mile, taken in alternate sections on each side of its road. This is on absolute donation, and will be a source of large revenue in the future.

III.—A GOVERNMENT GRANT of United States Thirty-year Bonds, amounting to from $16,000 to $48,000 per mile, according to the difficulties to be surmounted on the various sections to be built. The Government takes a second mortgage as security, and it is expected that not only the interest, but the principal amount may be paid in services rendered by the Company in transporting troops, mails, &c. The interest is now much more than paid in this way, besides securing a great saving in time and money to the Government.

IV.—A GOVERNMENT GRANT of the right to issue its own FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS, to aid in building the road, to the same amount as the U. S. Bonds, issued for the same purpose, and no more. The Government permits the Trustees for the First Mortgage Bondholders to deliver the Bonds to the Company only as the road is completed, and after it has been examined by United States Commissioners and pronounced to be in all respects a first-class Railroad, laid with a heavy T rail, and completely supplied with depots, stations, turnouts, carshops, locomotives, cars, &c.

V.—A CAPITAL STOCK SUBSCRIPTION from the stockholders, of which OVER EIGHT MILLION DOLLARS have been paid in upon the work already done, and which will be increased as the wants of the Company require.

VI.—NET CASH EARNINGS on its Way Business, that already amount to MORE THAN THE INTEREST on the First Mortgage Bonds. These earnings are no indication of the vast through business that must follow the opening of the line to the Pacific, but they certainly prove that upon such a property, costing nearly three times their amount, ARE SECURE BEYOND ANY CONTINGENCY.

FIRST MORTCAGE BONDS

The Company have abundant means in their treasury, and make no appeal to the public to purchase their Bonds, as the daily subscriptions are entirely satisfactory; but they submit that, for entire security and liberal returns, there is certainly no better investment in the market.

The Union Pacific Bonds are for $1,000 each, and have coupons attached. They have thirty years to run, and bear annual interest, payable on the first days of January and July, at the Company's Office in the City of New York, at the rate of six per cent. in gold. The Principal is payable in gold at maturity. The price is 102. At the present rate of gold, these bonds pay an annual income on their cost of NEARLY NINE PER CENT.

The Company reserve the right to advance the price of their bonds to a rate above par at any time, and will not fill any orders or receive any subscriptions on which the money has not been actually paid at the Company's office before the time of such advance.

Parties subscribing will remit the par value of the bonds and the accrued interest in currency at the rate of six per cent. per annum, from the date on which the last coupon was paid. Subscriptions will be received in Pittsburgh by

HART, CAUGHEY & Co., corner of Wood and Third Streets;

S. McCLEAN & CO., 75 Fourth Street;

PH. R. MERTZ, corner 5th and Wood Sts.;

ROBINSON BROS., 78 Fourth street;

AND IN NEW YORK

At the Company's Office, No. 20 Nassau Street, and by

JOHN J. CISCO & SON, Bankers, No. 59 Wall Street, and by the Company's advertised agents throughout the United States.

Remittances should be made in drafts or other funds par in New York, and the Bonds will be sent free of charge by return express. Parties subscribing through local agents, will look to them for their safe delivery.

A PAMPHLET AND MAP FOR 1868 has just been published by the Company, giving fuller information than is possible in an advertisement, respecting the Progress of the Work, the Resources of the Country traversed by the Road, the Means for Construction, and the Value of the Bonds, which will be sent free on application at the Company's offices, or to any of the advertised agents.

SECURITY AND COMFORT FOR THE TRAVELING COMMUNITY.

J. B. HARRIS' SAFETY FIRE JACKET,

Car Heater and Moderator,

For SMOKE AND HOT AIR FLUES, dispensing with the use of Stoves and Fires in or about the Passenger or Baggage Cars, with the attachment to graduate the heat to any temperature that may be desired without the possibility of firing the car or cars to which the Jacket may be attached.

Having obtained of the United States Letters Patent for a safety Jacket which is warranted to resist the most intense heat that may be applied to it in the position and purpose for which it is intended. It is a sure protection from accidents by fire, originating from defective flues, or where iron pipes are used as conductors for smoke or heat. It is applicable to all piping that may become overheated, and is warranted to give perfect satisfaction where wood or other combustible material may be placed in close proximity thereto. I am now ready to apply my invention to stores, dwellings, factories, ships, steamboats, railroad cars, &c., wherever pipes as conductors are made dangerous by being overheated and security desired. I will sell, on application, rights to manufacture or to use the above invention; also, territorial rights, to such as may wish to engage in selling privileges, either by State or county.

Property owners will do well to attend to the matter, and have all such obstructions removed from the sidewalks in front of their property before the 1st of next month.

New Music.—We have received from C. C. Mellor, the well known music dealer and publisher, No. 81 Wood street, a copy of a new song just issued, entitled "Don't Forget Me, Mary, Dear." The song, written and arranged for the piano by Mr. John Summers, is exquisitely melodious while the words are very pretty. It is destined to become popular.

Lecture.—A lecture on the subject of "Chinese Customs and Religion," will be given in the Union Baptist Church, Grant street, by Wong-sa-Kee, a young Chinaman, who is on a visit to this country. The lecturer is endeavoring to raise funds to enable him to educate himself. The lecture this evening being for that purpose. A general invitation is extended to the public to be present.

Saloon Keeper in Trouble.—Frank Weigandt, a saloon keeper, on Water street, is again in trouble. Saturday John O'Brien made information before the Mayor charging Weigandt with aggravated assault and battery. He alleges that he was in the saloon of the accused when he was struck and knocked down with a slung-shot or some other heavy instrument. Samuel Lynch at the same time made information charging him with assault and battery and also with selling liquor on Sunday. Weigandt was arrested and held for a hearing.

Held to Bail.—Two of the parties, Leonard Hartman and John Thornton, implicated in the assault on Balthauser Herbert at a pic nic on Troy Hill, about a week ago, had a week ago, a notice of which appeared in the GAZETTE, had a second hearing before Mayor Drum, on Saturday morning, on a charge of felonious assault and battery, preferred against them by Lawrence Simon. In default of $2,000 bail they were committed for a further hearing on the 6th of July. Balthauser has not yet recovered, but is still suffering from the injuries received.

A Ferocious Dog.—Samuel Patterson made information before the Mayor, Saturday, charging Joseph Reicht with keeping a ferocious dog. The dog, it appears, is a "black and tan" rat terrier, and Saturday the defendant caught a rat in a trap and took it in the street to let the dog kill it. The prosecutor, who is a boy, was standing by to see the "fun" and when the rat was let out of the trap struck at it with a "rattan." The dog thinking the boy struck at him, seized him by the leg and bit him severely. The defendant was arrested and taken to the Mayor's office, where the case was settled.

A Vicious Woman.

Yesterday morning W. D. Jones, a colored man, came to the Mayor's office and made information, charging his wife with assault and battery. It appears that Jones came home on Saturday slightly intoxicated, and quarreled with his wife, and she alleges struck her with his fist, whereupon she seized a razor and cut him seriously in three places. The first stroke was on the right ear, which was severed in twain; the second left an ugly gash above the right eye, and the third cut completely through the right cheek. She was arrested and held to bail for a hearing this morning.

ANOTHER SUICIDE.

A Woman Sixty Years of Age Poisons Herself with Arsenic—Coroner's Investigation.

The old and well established opinion, which has prevailed for time "wherein the the memory of man runneth not to the contrary," that "life is sweet" under any circumstances, is meeting with a flat contradiction in the mania for self-murder, we call it nothing else, which prevails, not only in this immediate locality but throughout the country to an alarming extent. It is confined to no particular section of the country, or to any particular class of persons. The aged and the youthful; the rich and the poor; black and white; male and female, all have representatives in eternity who have gone there with the irreparable crime of self-murder on their souls. In fact suicides are of so frequent occurrence that almost any issue of our city papers contain accounts of one or more. The last case is that of Mrs. Baird, wife of James Baird, residing at Woods Run, a lady over sixty years of age, who came to her death on Saturday, about four o'clock, from the effects of arsenic, taken wilfully and with the intention of committing suicide. The deceased has raised a family of children, and it appears from the evidence adduced at the inquest, which we publish in full, she had for some time past resided with her son and had complained of bad treatment from his wife, which she assigned as the cause of her rash act. The Coroner held an inquest Saturday evening, when the following facts were elicited:

James Baird, sworn—Am the husband of deceased; she was sixty years of age; often said she would leave me, but never threatensd to take her life.

Mrs. Sarah Thompson, sworn—Deceased came into my house at half-past eleven o'clock A. M. Saturday; told me that her husband had seen in the papers that a woman had killed herself with arsenic; she ask me how much arsenic it took to kill a person; I told her I thought ten cents worth would be sufficient; she then went home and some ten minutes afterward was taken sick and I was sent for; her husband gave me a paper which he said she had given him, and I looked and saw it was labeled arsenic; I asked her why she had taken poison and her answer was that trouble induced her to take it; asked what the trouble was, and she replied that her daughter-in-law treated her badly; she spoke no more, except to say that she was burning up inside; she died about four o'clock in the afternoon; she was not under the influence of liquor when she was in my house in the morning, but I have frequently seen her so. She wanted me to cook some meat she had bought for her husband; I did not do it, as I thought she might have put some poison in it.

J. H. McCready, sworn—Am a druggist at Woods Run; deceased came to my store about one o'clock P. M., Saturday, and asked for a quarter's worth of arsenic, saying that she wanted it to kill rats and mice; she said her daughter-in-law's children were at Kilbuck and would not be at home for two weeks, and that it would be a safe time to poison the rats; gave her one ounce of arsenic and labelled it "poison;" in about two hours afterwards her son came to my store for Dr. Frank; the Dootor was sick and I went up to the house and gave her an emetic. She never bought poison of me before; had confidence in her; otherwise would not have given her the poison.

The jury found that deceased came to her death from the effects of arsenic administered by her own hands.

Death from Poison.

Saturday morning, about seven o'clock, Alexander Burns, laborer at Moorhead's mills, in Soho, died suddenly from the effects of a dose of laudanum. The deceased, for several years past, has been afflicted with rheumatism, in consequence of which he has been unable to work steady, and it is stated by his friends that he frequently took laudanum to relieve the suffering produced by the disease. Friday evening he stated to some of his friends that he would not work the next day, and after eating his supper he went to a drug store in the neighborhood and asked for ten cents worth of laudanum, which was put in a two ounce vial he had brought with him to receive it. After receiving the vial and paying for it he concluded it was not as much as he desired and requested the druggist to give him twenty-five cents worth, whereupon the bottle was filled. He then returned home and retired about nine o'clock that night on the floor of the first room, where it appears he had been accustomed to sleep for some time past. He said nothing to any of his family or any one else about having the laudanum. The youngest daughter went into the room to call him for breakfast, when he answered her, stating that he did not want anything to eat. She then left the room, and returned about an hour later, when she found him asleep, and being unable to awake him called her mother and older sister, who came into the room and discovering that there was something wrong ran out and called in some of the neighbors and sent for Dr. Cutler. Several ladies came in, but too late to render any assistance, as the unfortunate man expired in a few moments after their arrival. The doctor did not reach the house for several minutes after his death. The eldest daughter upon entering the room the first time discovered the bottle which had contained the laudanum lying on the hearth, empty. It was properly labeld and marked "poison." Coroner Clawson held an inquest on Saturday morning when the jury found "That the deceased came to his death on the morning of the 27th of June, from the effects of laudanum administered by his own hands."

The family think that he took an overdose accidentally but the facts would warrant a different conclusion.

The deceased was about fifty-seven years of age and leaves a wife and four children, the youngest of whom is about fourteen years old.

Informal Meeting of Principals of Pittsburgh Schools.

An informal meeting of the City Superintendent and Principals of the Public Schools of Pittsburgh was held on Saturday afternoon in the Chapel of the Central High School. The object of the meeting was to consult in regard to the establishment of a uniform grade of studies in the different departments of all the schools. Heretofore it seems that each ward has acted independently in this matter, but since the consolidation of the city and the consequent enlargement of the school system, it is deemed advisable to have it methodically arranged so as to prevent all clashings, and establish a regular management throughout the city. As the affair was merely preliminary nothing was done beyond the interchange of views and the appointment of a committee to take the subject into consideration.

There was quite a favorable expression of opinion in regard to the establishment of a city normal school, a suggestion which we would like to see carried out.

Beaten by a Woman.

James Langen made information before the Mayor, on Saturday, charging Jane Murphy with assault and battery. It appears that Mrs. Murphy's husband rented a room in the prosecutor's house which he and his family occupied, and on Saturday Langen being slightly drunk went into Mrs. Murphy's room and demanded of her the rent. She informed him that her husband paid the rent and that he must look to him for it. Langen swore if she did not pay it he would put her out of the house, and she says took hold of her for that purpose. She picked up a frying pan and dealt him a blow on the head which knocked him down and cut a severe gash in his scalp. Mrs. Murphy was arrested and held for a hearing.

Bold Robbery in Allegheny—A House Entered and Trunk Broken Into—Escape of the Perpetrators.

Last evening about nine o'clock the dwelling house of Mr. John Young, corner of Webster street and North alley, was made the scene of one of the boldest robberies which we have chronicled for a long time. It appears that while the family were in the front part of the house, a man, who is described a low, thick-set personage, climbed up on a low porch in the rear of the building, gaining access from it through an open window to the premises on the second floor. For a while, as he made no noise, no attention was attracted to the scene of his operations, of which he seems to have taken the best advantage, cutting open a trunk and scattering the contents around the room, rummaging through closets, wardrobes and dressing bureaus, collecting a considerable quantity of booty. He had almost finished his operations, when one of the children becoming restless, Mrs. Young proceeded with a lamp up stairs to put it to bed. Just at the head of the stairs she met the intruder, who was coming out of one of the front rooms with his plunder. With an oath at being intercepted he raised a club which he carried and struck at the lamp, endeavoring to knock it out of her hand, bnt missed his mark. The lady being almost frightened to death gave a loud scream to her son-in-law, who came running up, being too late, however, to catch the assailant, who escaped through the window at which he had entered, to the roof. His disappearance was so sudden that several persons who were passing through the alley at the time said they noticed no person jumping from the porch. It was surmised he had taken refuge in one of the adjoining buildings. Acting on this supposition, the police were summoned and made a thorough examination of the surrounding premises, failing, however, to find the object of their search. It is not known how much he was enabled to carry away, as the contents of the trunk, which seems to have had his special care, are unknown. Two of the coats which he had secured from the wardrobe were dropped in his flight, but the rest of the booty, whatever it was, he succeeded in taking with him. The robbery at such an early hour in the evening and in such a populous part of the city, was certainly one of extreme boldness and audacity.

Body Found—Foul Play Suspected.

Yesterday evening, between three and four o'clock, the body of a drowned man was found in the Monongahela river, at the foot of Market street, by some boys who were playing on the wharf, and on being brought to shore was identified as that of Patrick McCracken, a shoemaker from Brownsville. It appears that McCracken, in company with J. B. White, from Madison, Indiana, Henry Sheppard and Christ. ——, the cook on the "Messenger," were together Friday night at O'Rourke's tavern, where they remained until after eleven o'clock, when they left, all being more or less intoxicated. White and McCracken, according to White's statement, went aboard of the steamer Armadillo to sleep, and when they got on board McCracken was so drunk that he could not get up stairs, and was left lying in the engine house. White, however, went up to the cabin and slept until morning, and on coming down to look for McCracken found his hat in the engine room, but the man was gone. He enquired for him at O'Rourke's but failed to hear anything of him, and nothing more was said about the matter until yesterday morning, when it appears White came up to the Mayor's office and stated the fact that McCracken had been missing since Friday night, but gave none of the particulars of his disappearance. After the body had been found and identified omcer Messner arrested White and took him to the lock-up to await the Coroner's investigation, which will take place this morning. White is a native of Madison, Indiana, but has recently been engaged in the dental business in St. Louis, from whence he came to this city about two weeks since on the steamer "Kate Robinson" in the capacity of cabin boy. His object in coming here was to get employment at the dental business, at which he has worked for seven years past, but failing to obtain work of that kind he made a trip to Louisville on the tow boat "Mary Ann" as second cook, returning to this city the first of last week. He gives his statement with considerable frankness, and his story is a plausible one, so that it is probable that McCracken's death was purely accidental.

The Birmingham Passenger Railway.

The Pittsburgh and Birmingham Passenger Railway Company have completed the double track on their line to the Postoffice switch, between Grosvenor and Denman streets. The work of laying the additional track from the western line of the borough to its present terminus, which has been under progress for some weeks past, was completed Saturday evening, and the first car passed over it at seven o'clock. At nine o'clock Friday night the cars stopped running for the purpose of giving the workmen time to make the connection with the Postoffice switch and with the terminus of the double track at the eastern boundery of South Pittsburgh, with the intention of completing the work in time for the first car the next morning. The entire force went to work at the two points named and labored faithfully all night, and on Saturday until seven o'clock, before the work was finished. The cars having all been taken to the upper end of the road Friday night, the result was that no cars were running on this end Saturday until the time mentioned. The delay caused considerable dissatisfaction on the part of our Southside neighbors, but as it was unavoidable they could censure no one for it. We doubt exceedingly if they have ever had a full appreciation of the advantages of the road until they were deprived of its benefits. The road is one of the best managed institutions in the city, and will now be enabled to offer greater accommodations to its patrons.

House and Sign Painting.

Although the season for interior and exterior painting of our places of residence and business has pretty far advanced, still there remains much work of this character to be done. It is an all important matter to secure the services of a painter who, while charging only fair and reasonable prices, will perform his work in such a manner as to afford satisfaction. Among the first class and reliable house and sign painters in this city none stand higher in the estimation of the general community than Mr. John T. Gray, whose office is at No. 54 Hand street near Liberty. By careful attention to the execution of all orders intrusted to him, not only superintending generally, but watchful of the details, employing none but reliable and competent mechanics in the various branches of the business, paying special attention that in all his work nothing but the very best quality of materials is used, Mr. Gray has succeeded in building up for himself a large patronage. He has executed some of the finest work in the city, which stands as his best advertisement and recommendation. He makes plain and ornamental sign painting, card lettering and gilding specialties, and those desiring anything in that line should favor him with a call. We know whereof we speak in commending Mr. Gray to the patronage of our readers as a house and sign painter eminently worthy their patronage. Orders either in the city or country will be promptly attended to on the most favorable scale of prices.

Robbery on Ridge Street, Allegheny.

On Sunday morning between one and two o'clock, some gentleman of the "knuck" persuasion entered a private residence on Ridge street, Allegheny, and without waiting for the formality of invitation, proceeded to go through in regular professional style. Entering through the kitchen, he first made his way to the larder and helped himself to its dainties in a manner which spoke well for his appetite, though the means he used to gratify it were not, to say the least, in accordance with the rules of strict honesty. Having thus refreshed the inner man, he turned his attention to something more substantial in the shape of a costly set of silver spoons, a set of knives and forks, and a large silver pitcher and waiter; but apparently becoming alarmed, either by the stings of an outraged conscience, or more likely by a noise indicating that some of the family were awake, he made a hasty exit from the premises, leaving the pitcher and waiter on the steps of the kitchen outside, retaining only as a memento of his visit the lighter but none the less valuable articles.

Odd-Fellows' Pic-Nic.

The pic-nic of Mechanics' Lodge, No. 9, I. O. O. F., which takes place at Moyce's Grove, near Sharpsburg, the fourth of July, will be one of the most select and pleasant entertainments of the day. The management of the affair is in the hands of gentlemen who understand their business, and the public may rest assured that nothing will be left undone calculated in any way to add to the enjoyment of the occasion. An excellent band of music has been engaged for the occasion, and every precaution will be taken to preserve order on the grounds. It will afford an excellent opportunity to any of our business men and mechanics for a day of pleasure and enjoyment in the country. The grove is a delightful one and easy of access, as excursion trains will run on the Allegheny Valley and West Pennsylvania Railroads, and it can also be reached by way of the Citizens Passenger Railway.

EVIDENCES OF SUCCESS.

Testimonial from Hon. John Covode, Member of Congress.

WASHINGTON, D. C. June 12, 1861.

For more than a year I suffered inconvenience from a constant sounding in my left ear. On the 21st of May I applied for Relief to Dr. E. S. Aborn, at 134 Smithfield street, Pittsburgh. He relieved me at once, and from that day to this I have had no difficulty of any kind. Truly,

JOHN COVODE.

Sight Restored.

S. P. COATES, of Allegheny City, called on Dr. Aborn—totally blind for two years—after one week's treatment was able to read the newspaper.

Consumption Entirely Cured,

Miss DONNELLY, of Bayardstown, was one year ago confined to bed with Consumption, given up to die by her attending Physicians. Under Dr. Aborn's treatment she has entirely recovered, and is now a hale, hearty woman.

Deafness Cured.

W. WAGNER, Esq., Cashier of National Bank, Morgantown, West Virginia, called on Dr. Aborn nearly two years ago for Deafness, and in a few months time his hearing was perfectly restored, and still remains perfect.

Remarkable Cure of Chronic Catarrh—Diminished in Weight 30 Pounds—Under Dr. Aborn's Treatment the Patient has Gained 33 Pounds.

R. T. KECK, Esq., of Clarion county, Pa., afflicted for fourteen (14) years with Chronic Catarrh, has recovered from the loathsome disease under Dr. Aborn's treatment, and gained 33 pounds.

Another Evidence of Skill.

G. M. WOOLSEY, of Gray's Landing, Pa., a very wealthy and respected old gentleman of some fifty years' experience in this world, called at our sanctum yesterday to contribute his certificate to the skill and ability of Dr. E. S. Aborn, the well known Surgeon and Physician. Mr. Woolsey has been suffering during the past fourteen years with a painful any annoying Tumor on the left arm, and being advised of Dr. Aborn's professional merits, called on him yesterday for treatment. To use the old gentleman's own language, "the Tumor was removed in two seconds without any pain and no hemorrhage ensuing." This was a skillful and scientific operation, and will take its place in the volume of cures approaching miracles which have marked Dr. Aborn's professional career.—Gazette, June 9, 1868.

A Marvellous Cure.

Mr. T. McEVOY, a very worthy young man employed at Moorhead's Rolling Mill, called at our sanctum last evening to communicate for the benefit of the afflicted a marvellous cure effected on him by Dr. E. S. Aborn, the well known Surgeon and Oculist. Nineteen years ago, when a mere child, four years age, Mr. McEvoy was afflicted with that loathsome disease the small pox. As a dreg he was bequeathed by the dreadful scourge an opacity, or white spot, which grew entirely over the pupil of his left eye, completely destroying its sight. Hearing of Dr. Aborn's skill he repaired to his office some two months ago and placed himself under his treatment. Last night he expressed himself to us as effectually and entirely cured, and could now see with an eye which had been totally blind, unable to discriminate light from darkness for over nineteen years. The cure was remarkable, but it may be regarded only as another link in the great chain of evidence of Dr. Aborn's skill and ability, as an Oculist and Surgeon.—Gazette, June 10, 1861.

Success the Test of Merit.

Of all the standards for testing merit, none is more reliable than success. Success in art, in science and in business of every nature implies merit, and the greater the success the more extraordinary the merit. These reflections are occasioned by witnessing the remarkable success attending the peculiar treatment of special diseases by the eminent Physician and Surgeon, Dr. E. S. Aborn. A visit to his handsomely furnished apartments at No. 134 Smithfield street, the ante-room of which is filled almost constantly by patients, will furnish proof that his mode of treatment is not only popular, but that it is peculiarly efficacious.

The Doctor's skill in getting speedily at the diagnosis of a disease, and the confident manner in which he treats his patients, unmistakably indicate that he is a scientific and experienced practitioner. His pretensions are backed by solid acquirements, as the volume of certificates of his skill, acquired during his short residence in this city of nearly one year, is sufficiently potential to prove him an able and accomplished Physician and Surgeon. Few if any men in his profession have been so uniformly successful in their practice. He has treated with marked success several obstinate cases of gentlemen connected with this office, whose testimony is already before the public, and may be relied upon. The testimony in favor of his mode of treatment for diseases of the eye, ear, catarrh and affections of the throat and chest, is so overwhelming that all that may follow will only be cumulative. His reputation here, where he intends to make his permanent residence, is sufficiently established, and it is extending rapidly to remote towns and cities, as is evidenced by the arrival of a large number of patients from a distance. In another column will be found a number of certificates that speak for themselves, and much more to the purpose than anything we could write.—Commercial, Sept. 5, 1867.

The Isle of Man.

Some of the most beautiful features in the scenery of the island are the sylvan glens which intersect the mountains. They are very frequent and analagous in character; but I always found something distinctive in each, imparting to the whole an endless variety. They all have their accompanying streams, but each with some characteristics of its own; one smoothly flowing between banks of verdure and beds of many-hued wild flowers; another turbulently rushing between rocky bounds, tufted with fern, and painted by vari-colored lichens. Interrupted by black ledges, and huge boulders torn from the mountain side and rolled down in some long past age, one of them forms a series of mimic waterfalls, musical to the ear and enchanting to the eye; then it wanders away half-hidden, but yet gleaming through tangled briars and brushwood, amid bowers of oak and mountain ash, whose boughs, reaching from side to side, and mingling overhead, form a half shade, through which the sunbeams glance and quiver upon the laughing water. Although it was early in the year when we came to see this charming island, yet the season was far advanced, giving us the advantage of a mingled spring and summer—all the freshness, vigor, elasticity of the one, its boundless profusion of wild flowers, its delicate tints upon the trees, which, though in full leaf, had not yet lost youth's complexion; its myriad sounds of joyous young life, its full flowing streams, not yet degenerated into little wandering rills.

Primitive Climate of the Earth.

The primitive atmosphere of the earth was greatly richer in carbonic acid than the present, and therefore unfit for the respiration of the warm-blooded animals. The agency of plants in purifying the atmosphere was long ago pointed out, and the great deposits of fossil fuel have been derived from the decomposition of this excess of carbonic acid by the ancient vegetation. In this connection the vegetation of former periods presents the phenomenon of tropical plants growing within the polar circle. Prof. T. Sterry Hunt considers as unsatisfactory the ingenious hypotheses proposed to account for the warmer climate of ancient times, and thinks that the true solution of the problem is to be found in the constitution of the early atmosphere, when considered in the light of Dr. Tyndall's researches on radiant heat. He has found that the presence of a few hundredths of carbonic acid gas in the atmosphere, while offering almost no obstacle to the passage of the solar rays, would suffice to prevent almost entire the loss by radiation of obscure heat, so that the surface of the land, beneath such an atmosphere, would become like a vast orchard house, in which the conditions of climate necessary to a luxuriant vegetation would be extended even to the polar regions.—Mechanics' Magazine.

THE recent letter of Senator Fowler, in which he says "the whole House is under the lead of those good old Democrats, B. F. Butler and John A. Logan, and he cannot have any interest in the scheme to usurp this government by such bold and bad conspirators," has called out a brief reply from General Butler, of which the following is the material portion: "In the year 1866, after I had made some speeches in the West in favor of the impeachment of Andrew Johnson, Senator Fowler came five hundred miles to my home in Lowell to visit me, being the first time I had ever seen him, and the only errand he made was to urge me vehemently not to cease my efforts until Andrew Johnson was impeached, giving as a reason among others, that as I had never been in Tennessee I could form no conception of what a bad man Andrew Johnson was in fact, and that the vivid description of his habits and conduct while Governor of Tennessee, given me by a young Tennesseean, who was present, failed to convey any adequate idea. Times change, and some of us change with them,"

THE army of the United States, according to figures deduced from statements furnished by the Secretary of War to the Committee on Military Affairs, is at present composed as follows: Artillery 5418, Cavalry 9586, Infantry 32,727, making a total of 47,713 enlisted men. Should no further enlistments be made, the diminution of the army from expiration of term of service, death and desertion will be very large. From the estimates furnished by the Secretary it appears that, unless provision is made to keep the force up to its present strength, the army on January 1st, 1869, will consist of, Artillery 3581, Cavalry 5455, Infantry 20,631, in all, 29,667 men; and on July 1st, 1869, of Artillery 2210, Cavalry 3221, Infantry 11,725, a total of 17,156 men.

A PARIS correspondent informs us that a well-known celebrity of the streets of that city has just died—Mother Angellque. It is said that for thirty years this old lady, without missing a morning, took her stand in Paris at a little nook called Petel-Pent, and, from a tray suspended from her neck, sold coffee at the dawn of day to the working people at one sous a cup. It is calculated that she sold during her career half a million cups of coffee, and by her savings had been enabled to set up her daughter in a linen shop, who, in turn, has been able to keep her carriage, accommodating her worthy mother with a drive every Sunday to the outskirts of the city.

THE great iron bridge of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad at Burlington is completed except on a portion of the draw. Trains will shortly be run over it. The line in Iowa is being pushed rapidly, and will soon all be under contract for completion early next year to Omaha. It is announced that the bridge across the Mississippi at Quincy will be completed so the trains can cross by the middle of September. There are six hundred men constantly employed in its construction.
